

Hi there... How are you going?

I think it feels very good looking forward to doing normal activities here in Melbourne.

During the last year, many events were cancelled or postponed....such as exhibitions and Craft Markets.

In the meantime, I have been making planters for Plantsmith in Preston, doing a commission of 'Strata' vases through Craft Victoria and also made 5 large planters for a friend.

I am glad that I can work from my home studio these days.

'Omnious Fruit' is a bowl of fruit shapes depicting the damage that climate change can cause to fruit crops.

I entered this in the 2021 Victorian Craft Award but it did not get selected
...well that's how it goes ...

This exhibition is now postponed till April 2022.

In September I donated this teapot to the charity auction:
Art for Afghanistan which raised $20,000 for www.talentbeyondboundaries.org to help refugees make a better life in a new country.

Leading up to Christmas I will attend 3 Craft Markets so come and say hello and maybe select a special gift or 2.....

Saturday 20th November Heide Makers Market

Open 10am-4pm

www.heidemarket.com

Saturday 4th December Port Melbourne Artisan Christmas Market

Open 12-7 pm

Stalls are set up along Bay Street

www.3207.com.au

Saturday 11th December Heide Makers Market

Open 10am-4pm

www.heidemarket.com

You can also check out the pieces for sale in my online shop on the website www.lenekuhl.com and in my Etsy shop: LeneKuhlCeramics.

Cheers Lene

Web lenekuhl.com || Instagram @kuhl.ceramics || Etsy LeneKuhlCeramics

Copyright © 2021 Lene Kuhl, All rights reserved.
You were subscribed to the newsletter from Lene Kuhl

unsubscribe from this list update subscription preferences